

Being Man

Transformative tantric practices for men who desire real relating with women

Whether you are single, happy in your relationship or unhappy in your relationship, this course, will help you to understand women and to be able to connect more effectively, bringing out your best qualities and guiding you to connect with the essence of woman.

The more still a man is internally, the more attractive he becomes to women. Women desire a man who is able to bring a quality of inner peace, allowing her to feel safe to surrender and let go into her deepest feminine

In this course, we will cover the following:

- ▶ Discovering your internal place of stillness
- ▶ Communicating with women to bring out their best
- ▶ How to touch a woman so that she keeps coming back for more
- ▶ Use tantric practices to make deep and passionate love to a woman
- ▶ Understanding your own sexual energy and power
- ▶ Learning how to become multi-orgasmic
- ▶ Being clear on your priorities as a man
- ▶ Having healthy, fulfilling and loving relationships with women which meet your needs and allow for the space that you desire

Martina Hughes

My passion and life's work is creating spaces where men and women can experience deeper and meaningful connections with their unique essence and also with their intimate partner, friends, family and community. I do this through facilitating sessions, workshops, retreats and trainings based on Tantra and Sacred Sexuality as this has been my own greatest catalyst for transformation.

I feel inspired to support people in knowing who they are, being able to live in alignment with their inner being and to restore the masculine and feminine polarity in our world.

Tantra has been and continues to be my greatest teacher – for me, tantra is about all of life – the way I eat, the way I treat my body, the way I meditate, the way I relate to friends and family, the way I connect with my intimate partner as well as how I experience my sexual energy.
